U. S. ENTERING ERA OF RECORD PROSPERITY

TRAFFIC DEMANDS UNPRECEDENTED

Great Business Activity Revealed at Railway Conference

ROADS FORCED TO EXPAND

New Mark Set in Equipment and Double Tracking

(By LINCOLN QUARBERG)

KANSAS CITY.—(United Press)—Billion-dollar expansion, greatest barometer of prosperity, is under way on a large scale.

Traffic demands, heaviest in the nation's history, prove business has passed the mere crest of normalcy and is actually approaching new high wave of prosperity, representative executives of leading railroads in conference here today, agreed.

The nation's arteries of commerce are first to feel the pulse of a rising tide of prosperity and the present unprecedented demand for vast weight movements emphasizes that condition, according to rail officials here, discussing terminal facilities.

"The country never looked more prosperous than it does today," declared J. M. Kurn, St. Louis president of the St. Louis and San Francisco.

NEW EQUIPMENT

"The Frisco lines are adding more equipment today than at any previous time in the history of their development. Fifty additional locomotives and 4,500 freight cars are just now reaching the tracks to a vast movement of new business."

"This is merely the beginning of a vast expansion, as we anticipate a continued demand for more haulage. We are also building double tracks wherever it is necessary to facilitate increased freight handling. There is no doubt that we are entering an era of real and record prosperity."

"Greater-industrial activity in all lines and excellent crop prospects observed by C. R. Gray, president of the Union Pacific.

"From all indications, along the Union Pacific system, 1923 will be a very prosperous year in all lines of industry," stated Gray.

INCREASED ACTIVITY

"Prospects appear to be excellent for good crops of all kinds and there is increased activity in all commercial and trade lines.

"In some districts there is already a shortage of labor, which ordinarily accompanies active business conditions."

Nearly $20,000,000 in new equipment is being added to the rolling stock of the Union Pacific lines to keep pace with and assist in progress of the territory it serves, according to Gray. The fresh outlay includes 158 new locomotives, 2,500 automobile cars and 2,000 box cars.

"We have also constructed approximately 60 miles of second track," the rail chief declared, "and have just authorized 54 miles additional."

"We are now engaged in the construction of five new lines into territories not heretofore served by rail."

We look for a general tonnage considerably in excess of 1922."

Other rail officials who met here included:

BUILDING BOOM

NEW YORK.—(United Press)—America is experiencing a record spring building boom.

United Press dispatches from cities in all parts of the country show that building permits are being issued on an unprecedented scale.

The greatest increase is in apartment houses. Dwellings come second, and business structures are a close third.

Compared with the first two months of last year, January and February show an enormous increase. Reports indicate buildings going up and those about to be constructed, are of a more expensive sort than those erected during 1922. Figures for the amount of money involved, in relation to the number of permits taken out are much larger.

$2500 SILK THEFT AT MINSTER

Every Bolt in Stock at Steineman Store Stolen

The Steineman general store at Minster, Auglaize co., was robbed of every bolt of silk in the establishment, according to report received by police here Thursday.

The robbery is thought to have occurred Wednesday morning and was discovered when the store was opened by the owner, Ed Steineman, at 7 a.m. The total loss is estimated at $2,500, altho the exact value of the stolen materials will not be known until an inventory is made. Other dress materials were not taken. A small sum of money was taken from the safe, which was unlocked. Several pieces of jewelry are also missing.

The robbery is believed by Minster officials to have been committed by expert silk thieves, who were probably aware of the fact that a large stock of silks had just been received by the store.

Entrance was gained by breaking the front door. The thieves are thought to have loaded their plunders on a truck at the rear of the store, altho it is impossible to find traces of the vehicle.

Police in cities and towns in all directions from Minster have been notified.

SCHOOL MAY WIN

Appropriation for Kent Normal Expected to be Voted

COLUMBUS.—(Associated Press)—Kent Normal School, against which the finance committees of both houses had directed an edict setting forth that no funds for operating expenses would be provided unless J. E. McGilvrey were removed as president, probably will receive its biennial appropriation of more than $700,000, after all. The appropriation bill for all state institutions and departments was to be introduced in the house today.

The house finance committee has receded at least to some extent from its former position, it was indicated last night when Chairman Harry D. Silver announced that the appropriation had been agreed to by the committee on condition that the school "be brought up to a proper standard." The attitude of the senate finance committee had not been made apparent.

After threatening to place Ringlespaugh under arrest, the wife obtained the first month's payment Thursday.

NINE DIE IN ALMSHOUSE FIRE

Indictments On Murder Charges Expected Today

BASTROP, La.—(United Press)—Indictments fixing responsibility for murders, kidnaps and other outlawry in connection with a reign of terror by hooded mobs in Morehouse Parish probably will be returned to night.

The grand jury, which has been investigating the terror campaign had completed its investigation today and was reported drawing true bills to be returned tonight. There was no intimation as to how many persons might be implicated by the jury.

Bastrop was quiet as the long investigation approached the climax. Townspeople, some of whom may be accused in the jury report quietly went about their business.

CHARLES MURPHY THINKS SALOON GONE FOREVER

NEW YORK—Charles F. Murphy, boss of Tammany Hall, gave his opinion today of a recent statement in which Governor Smith expressed willingness to help Senator Edge of New Jersey pass a bill so "we can put a foot on the rail again and blow off the froth."

"In my judgment," said Murphy, "the saloon in the United States is gone, never to return."

Murphy added that the governor's remark was merely one of his characteristic good-natured utterances."

DEATH EXPECTED SOON BY HUNGER STRIKER

DEDHAM, Mass.—The hunger strike of Nicola Sacco, now in his twenty-ninth day, has so far surprised his strength that he will have to be helped if he attends the hearing here tomorrow on a motion for a new trial for himself and Bartolomeo Vanzetti. They were convicted of killing a paymaster and his guard three years ago.

His attitude in recent days has been one of expectation of death from his fast, to which he has declared himself reconciled.

Sacco spends his days on his cell cot but when visited by his wife walks to the guard room. He shows no signs of tottering in his walk, according to Dr. Worthington but his condition is so weak that he could not go up even a short flight of steps without assistance.

The injured are Miss Anna Peach, sister of the dead girl, and Ernest Hammarskjold. It is thought by state police that Hammarskjold was driving the car and that he lost control just before he reached the covered bridge.

SELF-GOVERNMENT FOR BOYS' DIVISION OF "Y"

First steps toward the establishment of self-government for the boys' division of the Y. M. C. A. will be taken at a meeting of the cadets, boys between 10 and 12 years old, Friday night at the Y. M. C. A.

R. T. Veal, director of boys' work announced Thursday a boys' council would be organized to operate in accordance with parliamentary practice.

institute a similar council and March 23 boys from 10 to 19 years old will organize a body to work in cooperation with the other two.

The new separations proposal tentatively suggested to Great Britain was that Germany should pay a sum to be fixed by an International commission, the total to not exceed $30,000,000,000 marks.

A foreign loan to Germany to be guaranteed by this country's export trade was to provide the funds from which the payments would be made.

Veal intends to place as much responsibility for the work of the boys' division on the boys as they will take, he said.

ALLIES SPLIT ON RUHR POLICY

France and Belgium Are in Serious Disagreement

NEW CONFERENCE PLANNED

Brussels Complains of Receiving no Reparations

LONDON—(United Press)—France and Belgium are in serious disagreement over several phases of the Ruhr occupation, according to multifarious reports from variety of sources today. The Daily Express Paris correspondent understands the Belgians are dissatisfied with the present situation where they are receiving nothing in the way of reparations and that at a forthcoming conference here Belgium will demand of France a loan in lieu of German payments.

Le Peuple of Brussels, insists that despite official denials, serious dissension exists between the two countries, especially over the question of whether the armistice of occupation are being used to collect reparations or to establish a separate Rhine state.

GERMAN PEACE PLAN

LONDON—(Associated Press)—The information printed by the diplomatic correspondent of the Daily Telegraph to the effect that Germany has up her sleeve a peace plan that includes guarantees to France as well as international supervision of her finances, attracted considerable attention here today. The article, based on a speech by the newspaper says are thoroughly reliable, asserts that Germany is not prepared to bring the plan into the light until she is assured that it will receive more attention than did the proposals she has ready for the London and Paris premiers' conferences.

BRITAIN RESPONDS

BERLIN—(United Press)—Great Britain has responded to Germany's recent secret "peace feelings," the United Press was advised today.

The British government suggested Germany make a new and clearer reparations offer to the entente on her own initiative or that such an offer be made to the entente and the United States.

The British government suggested Germany make a new and clearer reparations offer to the entente on her own initiative or that such an offer be made to the entente and the United States.

Germany's willingness to resume reparations payments was learned by the United Press last Monday, at which time, it was reported, certain secret feelings in favor of a peace plan were to be followed by his "fishing" party down the coast of Cocolobo Bay. Tentative plans precluded any opportunity for political or other conferences with the president today as had been forecast.

President Harding and his vacation party arrived here yesterday. Mrs. Harding remaining aboard the houseboat Pioneer while the president came ashore to be entertained at luncheon by Carl G. Fisher, formerly of Indianapolis.

It was one of the quietest days spent by the party since the cruise began. The only conference the president participated in was when he visited Attorney General Daugherty who is recuperating from a recent illness. Mr. Daugherty, a member of the party, was forced to forego the cruise thru the Florida canal and remain here until he could rejoin the president.

The conference is said to have been relative mainly to the health of the attorney general, who is not yet recovered enough to take active charge of his duties.

Today's fishing party included only the men who are with the president.

The chief executive is understood to be keenly interested in the sail and barracuda fishing.

HOSPITAL ROBBED

Medical Staff Drugged by Agent of Bandits

NAPLES—(Associated Press)—The daring robbery of a private hospital, carried out with the aid of stupefying fumes from a powder thrown into an open fire place, occurred at Aversa, near here today.

Dr. Matroguine, proprietor of an eye clinic, had summoned the whole hospital staff and the patients into one room for a demonstration when one of his servants suddenly threw some powder into the fire and then dashed out of the room locking the door on the outside. The powder gave off dense fumes and before the doctor and his assistants could break down the door or even reach the windows, every one in the room was overcome by the fumes which contained a powerful narcotic.

When consciousness returned to the victim several hours later they found the premises completely rifled all the instruments and furniture, even the beds and mattresses, having been removed in a cart by the robbers and his accomplices.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—(Associated Press)—Indication of clearing weather today was expected to see President Harding and his companions out for the usual round on the Flamingo golf course, which was to be followed by his "fishing" party down the coast of Cocolobo Bay. Tentative plans precluded any opportunity for political or other conferences with the president today as had been forecast.

OLD GROUNDHOG HAS MADE GOOD

Something like two or three weeks ago when spring made a stagger at slipping in unannounced, results which followed were only as expected. The period of warm sunshine, gentle zephyrs and buzzing insect life was quickly terminated by a return engagement of Boreas.

The old fellow remained longer than was expected, however. Even now he is resisting de-thronement, but is slowly giving ground the weather forecast indicates.

Rain tonight and Friday, warmer tonight and in north portion Friday; colder in extreme west portion Friday afternoon. Strong southerly winds.

Signs of spring are being temporarily held up by winter's comeback, but from day to day there is a growing hope that the season of cold winds and ice and snow will give way to milder conditions.

Consensus of opinion is that the groundhog has made good in prediction of six weeks of cold weather following February 2. The period ends tomorrow. It is hoped the G. H. will turn up on us now, since he has vindicated himself and the tradition that goes along with him.

The days are growing longer quite perceptibly. On this date the sun rises at 6:12 a. m. and is due to set at 6:07 p. m.

"WEEK OF SURPRISES" PLANS FURTHERED BY K. C. CARNIVAL HEADS

In furtherance of the expressed plan of the Knights of Columbus carnival committee to make the carnival a "Week of Surprises," the first innovation which will startle Lima people was announced Thursday morning.

Arrangements were completed Wednesday night, according to report of the committee, to bring a nationally known aviator to Lima on the first day the carnival opens, March 31. He will soar above the city and at an announced hour will go thru a series of thrilling stunts.

After the stunt program, the airplane will descend to a height of approximately 500 feet and will drop $100 from the ship, each envelope will contain from 10 cents to a dollar bill. The aviator will be directly above the public square when the money is sent earthward.

Several other novel stunts are being arranged, it is said but these will not be announced until the plans are completed. In addition to the stunts, several surprises are in store for Lima in the manner in which the interior of the Knights of Columbus building will be decorated during the carnival.

One of the most successful decorators in the United States has been engaged to lay out and take charge of the decorating of the first two floors of the building and his preliminary sketches promise to convert the building into a veritable fairyland from March 31 to April 4.

BODY 1,000 YEARS OLD FOUND

Mummified Remains of Indian Discovered in Mississippi

COVERED WITH LIMESTONE

Under Rock Shelter Used as Dwelling Place

NOEL, Miss. — (Associated Press) — The partly mummified body of a prehistoric Indian found here by archaeologists is ten centuries or more old, M. R. Harrington, director of excavations, estimated today.

The archaeologists who represent the Museum of the American Indian, Heye Foundation, of New York, found the body in a bed of grass, covered with slabs of limestone, under a great overhanging cliff. The rock shelter, according to Harrington, probably had been occupied as a dwelling for many generations by an ancient race of Indians. That was attested, he said, by great beds of ashes four or five feet deep, containing thousands of bones of deer, elk and buffalo, the animals probably eaten by the aborigines as well as many flint spear points with which such game had been hunted.

MASKS WORN

Behind some large rocks at the back of a stone shelter the soil was found to be perfectly dry. The limestone slabs covering the skeleton lay in dust. Probing beneath these the archaeologists first uncovered the entire frame, swathed in tattered deer skin and covered with a piece of grass matting. It was observed that the body lay on its left side in a crouching position with knees drawn up. The work required several hours and choking dust arose in such clouds in the confined space that the excavators were compelled to wear especially constructed masks. The skeleton was photographed before it was removed.

"The three or four mummies found by our expedition in the Ozark Rock shelters had not been artificially embalmed," Mr. Harrington said today. "Their state of preservation is due simply to the dryness of the dust deposits in which they were interred. These have dried the flesh, where there has been slight dampness we find only

DRESS REHEARSAL FOR SCHOOL PLAY PLANNED

Dress rehearsal for "The First Lady of the Land," a historical play by Charles Nirdlinger, to be given by South High school seniors Friday night at Central high auditorium, will be held Thursday night. Miss Helen Meredith is coaching the players.

The play is based on the Burr conspiracy to form a southern empire out of part of the United States and Mexico, and presents the political life of James Madison. The romance of Madison and Dolley Todd adds a love story to the history.

BIG Public Mass Meeting TONIGHT

Lima Chiropractors invite the public to attend Public Indignation meeting tonight at MEMORIAL HALL at 8 o'clock—Admission free.

Speakers will include the Hon. C. Gilbert Taylor, Christian Scientist, and former member of the legislature, the Rev. Howard M. Meyer of Ohio Northern University and Frank P. Myers, D. C., representative of the Universal Chiropractors Association. Hear free concert by Ohio Northern University Band.

Four Lima Chiropractors with a message of health have been put in jail by the Ohio State Medical board—Not because they harmed anyone but because they were actually getting sick people well; because they were building success upon the failures of medicine. Putting Chiropractors in jail will never exterminate Chiropractic. If medical men want to exterminate Chiropractic let them follow the advice of their own great leader in this state, Dr. J. H. Baldwin, former president of the Ohio State Medical Association, who says that the only way to exterminate Chiropractic is for the Medical men to remove the beam from their own eyes before attempting to remove the mole from the eyes of others. It must be remembered that Chiropractic has built its wonderful success upon the failures of medicine. People seldom seek a Chiropractor until they have passed the gauntlet of medical experts. So it is upon these "failures" that we have made our success.

Attend the big Chiropractic Mass Meeting tonight and learn about the gigantic Medical Trust that is operating in Ohio to exterminate Chiropractic and other drugless professions.

READ WHAT SOME MEDICAL MEN SAY:

There is no evidence that typhoid germs cause typhoid; that Vaccine prevents smallpox; that antitoxin decreases diphtheria.—Chas. D. Chapin, M. D. Providence, R. I.

The senseless, ruthless destruction of the tonsils is becoming each day a greater menace to the public good.—Jno. McKenzie, M. D., Johns-Hopkins University.

The whole theory of vaccination and serum is erroneous, for, although by their use we may obtain freedom from one disease, it lays us liable to others, especially tuberculosis.—Lieut. C. E. Woodruff of the U. S. Army.

The spine has more to do than any other factor with the maintenance of health on the one hand or the establishment of disease on the other.—Alfred Walton, M. D., Graduate Harvard.

Seventy-five percent of the school children of St. Louis are afflicted with some form of spinal curvature and this is the cause of many grave and dangerous diseases later in life.—J. H. Cramshaw, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

Thousands of desperate cases of chronic diseases could be easily cured if some one had sense enough to tell the poor victims to quit taking medicine.—C. S. Carr, M. D., in Columbus, Ohio, Medical Journal.

If in diphtheria, the bacillus is not found, the illness is renamed by the doctors as something else.—Encyclopedia Britannica.

Medicine in its present state is scientific insanity.—Eduar Lee, M. D.

If you are interested in seeing Chiropractors get a "Square Deal" write your representative in the General Assembly and urge him to support House Bill No. 283 which takes the Chiropractors out from under the selfish autocratic control of the State Medical Board and places such control in the hands of a Chiropractic Board of Examiners.

HISTORY OF THE BUSINESS: Founded in 1902 by W. A. Hersch with less than $100,000 capital, making men's clothes to order and selling them direct to the consumer at moderate prices in our own stores.

The Common Stock, except the small amount now being offered, is closely held by those who are vitally interested in the fundamental growth and prosperity of the Company.

MANAGEMENT: There will be no change in management. The executives responsible for the growth of the institution during the past 21 years will remain in active control. Likewise the organization of able assistants and experienced employees will continue as heretofore.

WOMAN BETRAYED BY HER DIARY

Robs Her of Spouse and Sweet heart in Triangle.

ADVISES, "DON'T TRUST PEN"

Entries in Book Tell of Double Life.

By GENE COHN
SAN FRANCISCO — (Special)—
"Don't trust your pen."
That's the advice of Mrs. Leon Quinn.

For she has learned that a pen can betray more cruelly than the babbling tongues of gossips or friends.

She had but one confidante—her diary. And this had bobbed up to trap her as the central figure of a
"love triangle."

Through its impassioned pages,
which were bared by the divorce action of her husband, there runs the following scenario:

A girl, quite madly in love,
doubts that her love is returned.
She meets another man and marries him upon impulse.

She discovers, when the bonds of matrimony are forged, that her first love was far more potent than she had dreamed and that it is growing stronger and stronger.

CONFESSES TO DIARY
So she sets about to see Love No.
1 whenever possible, meanwhile confessing her transgressions to the diary. Her first love spurns her and then suddenly, she finds motherhood near.

One day the diary is found by her husband and now, from present indications, she has lost both husband and lover.

Thus runs the plot. Extracts taken from the diary tell it in Mrs.
Quinn's own words:

"Jan. 3.—Chris came this a.m.
God knows I didn't want to let him go because there is no telling how long it will be before I see him again.

"Jan. 29.—What a cruel world
it seems. Does Chris love me?
Could he learn to? Can't I have the love of the man I adore?"

"March 8.—Jimmy is awfully nice. I want to church with him and for a ride. Jimmy wants to marry me. Here's a kiss for Chris.

"March 21.—I have promised to marry Jimmy. He is going to give me the ring. We will go to Los Angeles for our honeymoon.

"May 11.—Well, dear diary, I have returned to you. I need you to console me. Chris, I fear I have made a grave mistake. I married Jimmy Quinn on May 1. We get along splendid, but down in my heart I know I love Chris. I guess I always will. I think of Chris all day long. I fear, diary, that one of these days I will get desperate and Lord knows what will happen.

"... I was with the one I love. Had a wonderful time. He is so different from Jimmy. Jimmy is awfully good. I get everything I want, but as long as Chris is in existence I don't know what I shall do.

"May 17.—Chris has sent me back my signet ring. O diary mine, my heart is breaking.

"May 18.—I am so unhappy.

Every day I cry for hours. I want the man I love. Won't Chris have me now because I'm married? Why should that matter? I made a foolish mistake.

"June 8.—If I could only stop the heart storm within me. Oh Chris, if you only knew how I love you. I don't love him, Chris. I tried to, but can't. I'm living in a hell on earth. Please love me, Chris.

"July 24.—Well, diary, things have turned out in such a way that I believe it my duty to stick to my husband. I love Chris as I can never love another. But Chris has denounced me.

"Aug. 15.—Chris, Chris, I try to put you from my thoughts. He is coming to S. F. soon. Oh what misery I am in. Just as I make up my mind strong to go home I find that I am—I am to be a mother.
What shall I do? What shall I do?"

HENS GETTING BUSY:
EGG PRICES DECLINE

The unusual industry of hens may bring eggs down to 25 cents a dozen by the end of the week, local grocers said Thursday.

A number of dealers reported they had quit buying eggs. The buying price Thursday was 32 cents and the selling price 29 to 33 cents a dozen.

With Easter near at hand and milder weather conditions a seasonal certainty, egg prices are expected to remain at least normal as biddy increases production.

JUNIORS TAKE UP CLUB WORK

Avocational Training Scope is Being Broadened

Avocational clubs became, for the first time, a part of the educational system of Central Junior high school Thursday noon, when a group of nine clubs, open to students, was announced by Miss Zella Foster, principal.

Plan of making the clubs a subsidiary part of the local educational program was started in 1916, but had not been carried to the junior high schools until Thursday. In other cities this plan has been found very successful in developing interest of younger students in the school and their academic studies.

While the clubs were announced at the assembly by Miss Foster, they will not hold their first meetings until April 5. These clubs are to meet for one study period each week, and will be under the supervision of an instructor who is interested in the work. Membership is not compulsory and in order to join any one of the nine groups, the student must be able to give good reasons why he or she desires to become a member.

Miss Foster also stated that consent of parents is necessary and that students who do not join one of the clubs would spend the time in the study hall.

The nine clubs announced and the teachers in charge include: Boy's Series club, Mr. Harter; Latin-English club, Miss Williams; Social service club, Miss Shreeves; Dramatic club, Miss Sharkey; Radio club, Mr. Bowman; Short story club for boys, E. S. Poling; Athletic club, A. W. Shultz;
Musical appreciation club for girls,
Miss Margaret Gregg; Art Study club, Miss Edith Simpson.

Total membership of Central Junior or High school is approximately 600 and as the size of each group is limited to 30 students, clubs will be available for only about one-half of the students.
However, the limited range of the clubs will interest only about 50 per cent of the students, it is thought, and will be able to rare for all students who manifest a genuine interest in the project.

As fast as the students create the demand for other clubs, they will be formed, Miss Foster stated.

While the object of the groups is to promote interest in school work by making the student's avocational interests a part of the curriculum, the clubs will not be used as a means of furthering any course of study.

For example, the Latin-English club will devote a part of its time to study of English words derived from the ancient tongue. Other clubs will follow along similar lines and are expected to prove a valuable addition to the school educational program.

splendid for children. At all drug-

Kill the Cold Stop the Flu

Do not fool with depressing, annoying colds this year. A cold today may lead to influenza tomorrow.

Dr. C. W. Waggoner, health commissioner, Toledo, says, "Cure colds the first day and it is unlikely you will contract pneumonia or influenza."

Play safe. Kill your cold now. Turpo, the only turpentine ointment, has really wonderful qualities in relieving colds and congestions.

Buy a jar of Turpo now—use it according to directions and secure quick relief from colds and congestions. Smell a little Turpo up the nostrils several times a day and the flu germs will have little chance of getting a lodging and breeding place.

ARE YOU A QUICK THINKER?

If you drive an auto, you've noticed that some people, when in danger of being run over, jump more quickly than others. At one end of the line is the pedestrian who, caught in a tight corner of traffic, has perfect control of himself, also the power of instantaneous decision. He knows exactly what to do, makes up his mind quickly.

The other extreme is the person who, suddenly trapped in a maze of cars, loses his head and tries to jump in all directions at once, so that the motorists haven't the slightest idea which way to turn.

The speed with which you are able to make up your mind, in emergency, is what the brain students now call one's "reaction time."

How many seconds in your "reaction time"?

A GOVERNMENT bulletin says: "Reaction time is the interval of time that elapses between the instant a sign or signal is seen and the necessary action started. A driver starts to pass another vehicle when suddenly a third vehicle appears which may block his path. The driver must decide whether to pass the vehicle or drop back. If his reaction time is slow he may not realize the danger until too late to avert an accident."

The reaction time of some people is very slow and undoubtedly is the cause of many accidents. Does the public safety require that such people be denied drivers' licenses? The Bureau of Public Roads is not yet ready to advocate such a policy, but considers that it should be investigated as a possible safety measure."

A very able suggestion. Put into effect, it would eliminate at least a fourth of auto drivers—and the same per cent of pedestrians.

FREE GARDEN SEED BUNK

IT'S probably the last time, but constituents of congressmen and United States senators all over the country are being flooded with free government garden seeds.

The last congress refused to sanction an appropriation for the purchase of seeds for garden and flower beds, and shrubs and bulbs for the more fortunate. The distribution now being made is under and by reason of an appropriation made previously.

Garden seed distribution by national legislators in Washington, "free gratis for nothing," has been a fixed institution for many years. When the thing was conceived, the lawmakers fondly believed it would aid them in gathering votes for re-election. That was probably true then, but it isn't now. In these days nobody expects anything for nothing—garden seeds included—so there is no fault to be found with congress in voting to "cut it out."

Expenditure of many thousands of dollars every year, for the benefit of a comparatively few of the total of the population of the United States, while everyone who pays taxes is forced to contribute to the cost, is unfair in the first place and has never been necessary. There is little doubt but that a large per cent of free garden seeds sent out are never planted.

For the most part, farmers and gardeners prefer to purchase seed from reliable dealers. They have no means of knowing whether free seeds will grow and produce. They cannot afford to take a chance on wasted effort.

The free seed plan is bunk. It never should have been started. That it has been eliminated is commendable. Lima and Allen-co people are probably being favored this spring for the last time. Nobody is worrying about it.

SCANDAL HITS KING OF SWAT

WHILE he is working out in a southern baseball camp in an effort to come back in the matter of playing the game, Babe Ruth, home run king, has become involved in a scandal which is causing him no little trouble. Altho he terms the suit of a New York girl for $50,000 as an attempt at blackmail, there will be much publicity of an undesirable nature to follow.

It is unfortunate for the big slugger that such a thing should occur at this time if he is innocent. If he is not, then baseball has suffered another rude shock and another of its idols will lose much of the friendship he has retained since he started slipping last year.

Ruth, who set a new record for home runs in 1921, was a disappointment to many of his admirers last year. He announced he would come back this year and his performance will be closely watched by sport followers, who are ever ready to grant any and all a square deal, but who soon forget has-beens. It is to be regretted that anything should interfere with Ruth's desire to regain his throne.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Graham Versus Whole Wheat
Draier decides graham flour is the same thing as whole wheat flour—S. G.

Answer—Graham flour is less than the entire wheat ground. Whole wheat flour is the entire wheat ground and unbroken grain removed. The reason it is difficult to make whole wheat flour is because it does not keep well and millers, bakers and dealers do not like to. Graham flour keeps better and longer, more readily, but the best whole wheat flour is still the roundings and all the bran, and is very palatable article when used in bread.

EFFERVESCENT SALTS

Earlier in our exposition and at ranging of the medicine cupboard we agreed that it was unnecessary to have any spirits in the cupboard. If anybody wants a nip with extenuating circumstances he need no longer look to medicine for it. Doctors who have any kind of practice at all simply will not take out a permit any more.

There is no more room for mystery in the medicine cupboard than there is for spirits. The entire line of effervescent salts—and it seems an endless line all wrapped around the most appealing kind of bokum—is sufficiently represented by a little tin box of seltz powder. The tin box keeps them dry.

A seltz powder consists of two parts. In the blue paper a moderate laxative dose of Rochelle salts and citrullite; in the white paper some tartaric acid. The powder from the blue paper is dissolved in about an inch of water in one glass; the powder from the white paper in the same quantity of water in another glass. When the powders are all dissolved the subject of the experiment tripes up softly, seizes one glass, pours its contents into the other glass, and dunks the mixture while it is foaming and fizzing furiously. Such portion as does not go up his nose or over his chest settles any little disturbance or uprising in the stomach and—the experimenter returns to bed to await the summons.

This is by no means a horrid way to take a dose of salts. Even children can take salts in this way, if the seltz powder is divided into quarters, and successive dunks of bubble water or cold water be given until the required dose is taken. A child requires about the same dose of salts that an adult does.

The virtue of seltz powder is that they may be kept in the medicine cupboard ready for use. But for squeamish folks who don't like medicine at all, like myself, I mean the taste of medicine, the finest thing our friend the druggist ever invented is effervescent solution of magnesium citrate. A bottle of citrate of magnesia is just a fair dose of salts. It is quite as pleasant to take as the finest lemon soda water. For a child, or an invalid with easily upset stomach, the citrate may be given in small doses, a wine glassful or less, cold, every hour if desired.

Whatever form of salts may be preferred, the effect of all saline laxatives is the same—extraction of water from the lining of stomach and bowel and by such irritation the stimulation of peristaltic or wave movement thru the intestine. It is a pernicious practice to resort to salts frequently or habitually. Such strong medicine is justifiable only for rare emergencies. Folks sometimes take too seriously the suggestions of those who exploit saline cathartics as "blood cleansers" and "toxic acid eliminators" and all that sort, and by indulging in frequent doses of the mysterious salts, do themselves harm.

COLOSSUS OF MOVIES STRADDLES ART, COMMERCE

(By GERTRUDE GILLHAM)
ICTOR SEASTROM's tawny head rears above all the others in the room, a veritable mountain of a man. Victor Seastrom, seeking a compromise between his art and the commerce of America. The Colossus of Rhodes!

A colossus trying to straddle the entrance to that harbor where few men can go to make art pay.

"Look at this," Seastrom hands me an exhibitor's report on his "The Stroke of Midnight." The exhibitor reports that he showed that picture two days and that it took two weeks to get his business back to normal.

Many, this writer among them, consider "The Stroke of Midnight" one of the three most artistic pictures of the past two years. (The others are "One Glorious Day" and "The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari.") Why aren't such pictures great boxoffice successes? Because of the mechanical limitations of the motion picture industry. Not because the public doesn't appreciate art.

If a director keeps his pictures within the banal and stereotyped limits within which 90 per cent of them fall the industrial machine can handle them. The industry is organized to ballyhoo them into financial success.

But once let a director rise above the petty limitations of the trade and his films do not fit into the ordained scheme of things. The industrial machine has no way of reaching that vast host of discriminating persons who would gladly go to see a really artistic picture. Very often those discriminating ones stay away from theaters because they have been ballyhooed into seeing a film that was so much claptrap.

The exhibitor is no more to blame than the distributor. The fellow who sells to the exhibitor ought to know just what his product is and how it should be presented.

"Toll Of the Sea" Is Beautiful Picture

HERALDED as an innovation in the epoch making picture in natural colors, "The Toll of the Sea," which is without doubt the outstanding novelty of the year. It is a charming story beautifully told and without the story would be a highly entertaining series of lovely colored pictures which delight the eye.

It is a radical departure in photography to which two noted scientists have given seven years research and is the most successful achievement in transferring natural colors to the screen as proved in the scenes of surpassing loveliness in which characters and settings are as real as in actual life.

The story, a drama of the orient, was written by Francis Marion and tells that for all the joy and happiness the sea gives it demands twice that amount in sorrow and loneliness. Lotus Flower, a beautiful Chinese girl finds the body of an American washed upon the rocks and with the aid of fishermen rescues him. She falls in love with him and they are married. Women Tell Each Other How They Have Been Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Perrysburg, Ohio.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I suffered with pains in my sides all the time. I can't remember just how long I suffered, but it was for some time. One day I was talking with a lady I met on a car, and I told her how I was feeling and she said she had been just like I was with pains and nervous troubles, and she took the Vegetable Compound, and it cured her. So then I went and got some, and I certainly recommend it for it is good. Whenever I see any woman who is sick I try to get her to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound,"—Mrs. ADA FRICK, Route 3, Perrysburg, Ohio.

In nearly every neighborhood in every town and city in this country there are women who have been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the treatment of ailments peculiar to their sex, and they take pleasure in passing the good word along to other women. Therefore, if you are troubled in this way, why not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

Get-It Tames the Wildest Corns

You Can Peel Them Right Off
No matter how long you've fed your corn, how bad they may be, whether hard or soft, or what you have tried, believe this—"Get-It" will end corn pains at once, and quickly you can lift the corn right off the toe or foot, with the finest! It cuts callouses, the same simple way. It is a real tonic, too. Get-It is Corn but a trifle—everywhere. E. Leavens & Co., Mfrs., Chicago.

Thus we find Seastrom, recognized as a great artist by all who are able to recognize art, trying to find a niche in the film business into which he may fit.

"What will your first picture be?" he was asked.

"I don't know yet," he answers. "I am studying about it very much, I must first find the story. It will be something"—he pauses for the word—"something here, behind the face." He taps his temple with his finger.

Just over from Sweden, he has not yet mastered our language. He doesn't care for pretty faces. What he wants to show on the screen is what goes on behind the face.

Something should be said to the lasting glory of the Goldwyn company. They have given Seastrom a free hand in selecting his stories, casts and method of story treatment.

Dinky Dean is zooming toward cinema fame under the same impetus that projected Jackie Coogan into the million-dollar class of screen stars. The impetus is Charlie Chaplin.

The Coogan kid was four when Chaplin gave him the title role in "The Kid." That was four years ago, and it was just about that time that Dinky Dean was born. Dinky is the son of Chuck Reisner, who has been the villain in several Chaplin pictures. His real name is Dean Franklin Reisner. Chaplin called at the Reisner home, tickled the youngster's toes and promised Reisner he would put the boy in pictures.

When Chaplin started "The Pilgrim" Reisner brought the boy to the studio. Chaplin put him in the picture and it presents the unusual spectacle of the boy slapping the comic king in the face.

Now Dinky Dean is to be starred in two-reel comedies. He had a slap-stick role in "The Pilgrim."

"Dr. Jack" Remains at Lyric

AROLD Lloyd has again proven that he is the most successful fun maker on the screen by his latest Pathé five reel comedy, "Dr. Jack" which is appearing again today and tomorrow at the Lyric theatre. It is a series of laughs from the start to the finish and there is not a person, regardless of age, who will not enjoy this comedy to the greatest degree.

In "Dr. Jack" he has again made a comedy with a serious vein running thru it, but the laughter is continuous and everlasting. He is seen in the title role of a young doctor who cures ills by the sunshine method. The comedy is interwoven with a charming love story, in which the comedian fairly outshines. Mildred Davis is the girl who aids charmingly in the sentinel vein, as the invalid who Dr. Jack cures. Many humorous incidents are offered when he attempts to oust the unscrupulous doctor from the girl's home.

Hal Roach is responsible for the story and Fred Newmeyer directed.

MRS EMMETT CURTIN, Jr.'s bridge-tea at the Lima Club, Thursday afternoon, added one more to the many attractive affairs that have been given the past week, in compliment to the three charming out-of-town visitors, Mrs. Frederick Brinker, Mrs. H. L. Gaynor and Mrs. Frank King. The bridge tables were arranged in the lounge at the club and at the conclusion of the play the guests were invited into the dining room, where tea was served.

The tea-tables presented a pretty picture Mrs. Curtin chose yellow as the predominant color, for her decorations with touches of blue. At one large table, where ten of the guests were seated, a large mound of Jonquils formed the centerpiece while on either side were yellow candles, tied with the blue tulles. Nut cups and pie dishes were yellow, the nut cups being one large Jonquil and the pie-cards having the spring flowers on them. On the smaller tables the cups and saucers filled with the Jonquils were used.

Miss Violet Bradley, however, will entertain the out-of-town guests at a ten o'clock breakfast at her home Friday and Saturday luncheon-bridge at 1 p.m. at a luncheon bridge at her home on S. Kenworthay.

Honoring her hon. eng. C. A. M. Miller of Holland, Austria, Mrs. C. H. Moon, Oakwood Park, entertained a group of members of the Elks' Home Thursday. The luncheon table was most attractive in appointment of place-holders.

Annually use organic Nuxated Iron to build up red blood, strength and endurance.

There are thousands of people who are ailing and lying down after a hard day's work, who should benefit by the use of a simple diet which carries a large load of iron, calcium and phosphorus to the condition of the blood. Without ergens from our blood, carries no oxygen and with no oxygen there is nothing to unite with the carbon in our food so what you eat does you no good. It is like putting coal into a stove without fire. You can eat clean organic iron rich foods and tablets from any drug store under the name of Nuxated Iron. It is the best iron tablet for the principal chemical constituent of active living nerve fiber, it is therefore a true blood and nerve food. It helps create and build new and stronger red blood cells. SUSIE SMART'S ADVICE

Dear Miss Smart: My husband has been unfaithful to me. He admits it, but says it will never happen again and begs me not to leave him. For the children's sake I feel I should stay. But I am afraid he would leave me if I trust him again. It seems to me sometimes that it would be better to try and make our home life like it used to be. What should I do?

I HAPPY WHILE T is expected of any wife or mother that she will make every effort to see that her home has a cheerful atmosphere. It would be unfair to your children if they were reared in a home where one parent had a dislike for the other so far for your children's sake and also for your own and your husband's sake you should try to make your home life as normal as possible. Mrs. J. W. Robertson had a paper on History of St. Patrick and Mrs. M. L. Davis gave several vocal selections accompanied on the piano by her daughter Miss Constance. Clever contests were presented in which Mrs. Charles Hoelschman and Miss Wallace Landis were successful. There was a color scheme of green and white being carried out in the apartment.

Mr. M. L. May, chairman of Division No. 3 and his son her committee, Messengers J. W. Robertson, C. D. Moser, R. P. Jones, Frank Scott, Will Roush, Daniel Roder, E. C. Parks and Nemo B. Tharp.

THE THREE MALEFACTORS

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Vendetta begins again in the life of Michael Sayers, noted criminal. His Norman Greaves, once of Scotland Yard, when Sayers' beautiful housemaid Janet was found dead in her room, was sent from Sir Norman to arrest him. Janet, however, had escaped, and traveled in many parts. Michael escapes arrest by taking desperate chances. Janet is also missing, but because he readily admits the many good qualities he recognizes in her, Sir Norman deals with her leniently. Janet goes to work for Mrs. Trumper Smith, widow of the widow of the Magnificent Hotel at the time she was found murdered and her jewels missing. Mr. Sidney Bloor, attorney and pretended admirer of Janet, is accused of the murder.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY —SIR NORMAN'S STORY

"I should not have thought," she said, "that he would have had courage enough to wring the neck of a chicken."

I regard d'her fixedly.

"Why don't you try to earn the reward?" I asked.

"I am thinking about it," she replied. "If I have any luck, I'll come to you."

She left me then, and I went for a stroll along the front. Seated in one of the shelters, a little way toward Hove, was a young man who I felt sure, from his description, was Sidney Bloor. I looked around and found that one of Rimmington's men was seated on the other side of the shelter. I touched the young man on the arm, and his violent start assured me that I had not made a mistake.

"I believe that you are Mr. Sidney Bloor," I said. "Can't have a few words with you?"

"Let us take a stroll along the sands," I suggested. And then, as we walked along side by side:

"I have no official connection with this case, Mr. Bloor," I began, "but the hotel company have asked me to make a few inquiries. If you are guilty, the police will probably bring the crime home to you. If you are not—

"I am not!" he interrupted passionately.

"If you are not," I repeated, "I am here for your assistance. Remember I am here to discover the truth, not to try and fix the guilt on any particular person.... Why don't you tell me the truth?"

It was silent for several moments—probably. I decided, piecemealed, the story he had made up had mind to tell. He went farther, however, than I had expected.

"They were stolen before I could get at them. I made her take them off before we went out to bridge. They were left in a drawer, not even locked up. The first time I cut a strip of the rubber, I came back to hotel. I went up to her room and searched the drawer where the jewels had been put. They were gone. I went back to the bridge-party, came home with Mrs. Trumper Smith about two o'clock, said good night to her in her sitting-room, had a whisky and soda and went to bed. That's all I know about it. So help me God!"

"When you couldn't find the diamonds, why didn't you take the jewels?" I asked as we turned back.

"I should have been seen carrying it," he replied, "and I had no tools with which to open it. I am not a professional thief."

"You are aware that the evidence looks rather black against you?" I pointed out.

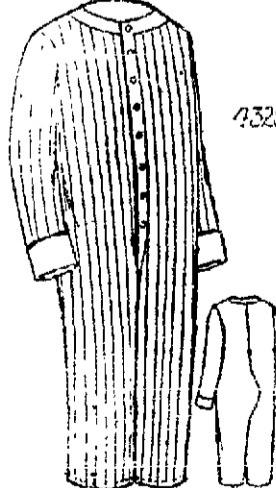

"I can't help it," he answered sullenly. "I didn't do it."

I left him on the promenade, and saw him stroll across the road to a chemist's shop for a pick-me-up. I went back to the hotel, and discovered that my friend Inspector Rimmington from Scotland Yard had already arrived and had taken over formal conduct of the case. He was waiting for Bloor, whose very unenviable dossier he had brought down with him. I glanced at him without any particular interest. Rimmington watched me curiously.

"The young man is a thorough bad lot," he observed.

"There's only one thing in his favor," I nodded. "When you talk to him, you will realize that he is a decent, a young man without nerve or any manlike quality. Now I don't know whether it has ever occurred to you, Rimmington, but they were not in the jewel-case which you have recovered?"

"I imagine that the night-watchman must have made a mistake," I told him. "On the other hand, Bloor may have already disposed of the diamonds. Again, they may have been mislaid and will be brought in for the reward."

"What first of all made you think of Grant?" Rimmington asked a little later, as he was preparing to leave his office.

"A very slight thing," I answered. "The woman was strangled as you know, altho the finger-marks were undistinguishable.

There was a scratch upon her throat, and a few drops of blood evidently caused by the fingernail of the murderer. Now, Sidney Bloor's fingernails are bitten almost to the quick. The manager's, on the other hand, were really noticeable. They were long, and brought to a point. The nail on his right forefinger, however, was broken off short."

"I see," Rimmington replied. "Good night!"

I sat up for some little time, waiting for what I felt sure was inevitable. It was nearly one o'clock when there was a soft knock at the door, an in reply to my invitation, Janet entered. She closed the door behind her and came over toward me.

"I have found the diamonds," she announced.

"I congratulate you," I replied. "I have heard all that has happened," she continued. "There will be no trouble about the reward?"

"None whatever," I assured her. She laid them upon the table—the necklace, the bracelet and the earrings.

"Where did you find them?" I asked.

"In the small silk bag which Mrs. Trumper Smith took with her to the bridge-party," she replied. "She came back to her room for a moment just before starting, and must have taken them without saying anything to anybody."

"A most ingenious supposition," I murmured.

She looked at me for a moment with the strangest light in her eyes. I opened the door for her.

"Good night, Janet," I said. "I have stood in the way of your for-moment more than once. This time I am able to remind myself that Mrs. Trumper Smith is not my client. The reward will certainly be paid."

"The Winds of Death," sixth story of this remarkable series, will begin in our next issue.

on his way back from Egypt. It ran as follows:

"Greatly shocked. Arrive 17th. Hopo police will discover criminal. Believe jewels principal part mother's estate. Offer reward immediately for return anyone not connected crime."

"I am suggesting a tenth part of the insured value," he announced. "I shall see the solicitors before I return."

As we drew into Victoria, I offered my companion a lift. He refused, however, on the ground that he had a case of wine in the van, which he was taking back to a wine-merchant. I made a few calls, dined at my club, and traveled back again to Brighton by the late train. I met Rimmington in the hall of the hotel and we strolled into the manager's office. Mr. Leon Grant, looking more tired than ever after his long day in town, was speaking passionately into the telephone.

"It is absurd," he declared as we came in. "I spoke from the number I am asking for, several times this afternoon. The telephone is in perfect order."

"If you are speaking of Mayfair 1572, Mr. Grant," I intervened. "I am afraid the supervisor is correct. The number is disconnected."

His face, as he looked at us, grew horrible. The receiver slipped from his fingers and fell to the ground.

"What do you mean?" he gasped.

"Simply that Scotland Yard disconnected your flat in town for fear you should ring up and find out that the case of wine you brought up to London has been opened," I explained. "Rimmington, this is your job."

Rimmington was quick, but not quick enough. Grant's right hand was in the drawer by his side in a moment, and the silver-plated little revolver at his temple. I believe that he was a dead man before the Inspector laid hands on him.

Rimmington came to my sitting-room later on, and helped himself to a whisky and soda.

"A little secretive this morning, weren't you, Sir Norman?" he observed.

"We wanted the jewels," I pointed out. "Directly the man told me he had a case of wine in the van, I knew that everything was all right."

"When did you get this dossier?"

"By the second post this morning," I replied, "and a pretty bad one it was. He has a flat in town under another name; he owes one hundred dollars over two thousand pounds, and his domestic arrangements were, to say the least of it, irregular. He was desperately in need of money."

"Even now the reconstruction isn't absolutely simple," my companion mused. "Leon Grant evidently made his way to Mrs. Trumper Smith's rooms after her return; she woke up while he was making off with the jewelbox, and he strangled her. But what about the two visits from Bloor, earlier in the evening, and the missing diamonds? I think you said that

LETTER FROM LESLIE
HAMILTON TO PRISCILLA
BRADFORD

MY DEAR MISS BRADFORD:

I have just heard from my fiance—Mr. John Alden Prescott, that you, a childhood friend of his and a girl from his home town, are in the city, and I hasten to write to you this note.

Of course you know how very busy I am in preparing for our marriage, which takes place on the 22nd of next month, barely four weeks away, and I wonder if you would wave ceremony and take tea with me at the Country Club on Friday afternoon? I would be very pleased to have Miss Alden come, also. I have met her at the Adames a few times. She will probably remember me.

John tells me that she is a distant relative of his, altho he has never seen her. Of course you will both come to John's and my wedding, and, as he says that you are an especial favorite of his mother, we are making reservations for you in the same suite with Mrs. Prescott during her stay in the city from the 21st to the 23rd.

I am very sorry that I did not know you were here before, but, of course, I did not even know John until I went to Albany, a little over a month ago.

Hoping to see you Friday—I shall bring my sister Alice with me, and, if you wish, we will call for you—I remain, Sincerely, LESLIE HAMILTON.

NEW YORK — Bill Brennan, pugilist who suffered concussion of the brain as a result of the beating he received at the hands of Luis Angel Firpo, in a heavyweight boxing bout here, was declared today by attendants to have spent a "comfortable" night at the Jewish Memorial Hospital.

Dr. Edward L. Spitzer, upon whom Brennan called for treatment more than 30 hours after he had suffered the injuries which now confine him to the hospital, described the boxer's condition as "not dangerous." Dr. Spitzer stated, however, that Firpo's blow to Brennan's head has caused concussion of the brain.

Brennan's left side was a mass of bruises, the physician said, and a great swelling from the top of his head to his neck showed the result of the battering he received from the giant South American. The swelling is South American. The swelling is in the region of the mastoid bone, Dr. Spitzer said, and comes from Firpo's "right-hand punch," a short punch during the fight at close quarters.

Brennan's left kidney also showed a large swelling. Despite the terrific beating he received Brennan did not report to a physician for more than a day after the bout. He was knocked out in round 12 Monday before thousands of spectators.

Brennan received as bad a beating as if he had been hit with a hedge hammer," Dr. Spitzer said today. "When I was called to attend him, I found him in a daze, all the time then some 20 hours after the bout. He had received a worse battering of his career but despite that seemed to think he would get over it as he had got over other beatings. There is no reason for alarm however."

RAY LIKED IN NEW YORK

JOE RAY, America's great little middle distance runner, is one athlete who can start blowing his horn in the morning and blow it all day and get away with it.

Joe gets away with it because he does everything he says he can do.

It is a matter of history that Joe arose in a cafe in Antwerp and led three cheers for himself and got a big response.

Several weeks ago he broke the world's record for two miles and when he was being overwhelmed with congratulations he pulled the well-known aside and said, "I can do better. That last mile was bad." Later when Millie Rittoe beat him in a three-mile event and made a new world's record Joe remarked to Walle: "I didn't run my race or Fal have made better time than that."

Joe is quite an amateur boxer and he prides himself on his ability with his dukes. During a recent tournament in Chicago, a rival of Joe's knocked out a very good opponent in two rounds and Joe was asked about it.

"I'd have knocked him out in a round," Joe said.

Ray entered a meet at Ohio State University recently and a big crowd gathered expecting that he might make a record.

"I don't feel very good. I've had a lot of big races and got some more coming, so I guess I'll give you about a 4:30 mile," he told the committee.

He went out and ran the mile in 4:30 1-10.

New York likes anyone who boasts or puffs off and Ray is a great favorite here. So much so that he wants to leave Chicago and reside here.

"They don't appreciate what a wonderful runner I am in Chicago and they do in New York, so I guess I'll move here where they know something good when they see it," Ray said.

That's how he gets away with it.

WANT FIGHT

BILLINGS, Mont.—A special to the Billings Gazette from Shelly, Mont., says that a meeting of sport enthusiasts in the little oil town last night $55,000 in cash was raised and pledges were received from oil men totaling $200,000 more than necessary for staging a heavyweight championship boxing match between Tommy Gibbons of St. Paul and Jack Dempsey in Shelly next July 4. The committee in charge is awaiting a reply from Dempsey agreeing to the terms of the proposed bout.

BALL PARK TO BE OVERHAULED, REPAIRED

(BY MERRICK M. HILL)

Training camp news has taken precedence over all else in the world of sport. The slightest move made by managers of the league teams which may have vital influence on the standings of the clubs later in the year; star players who are holding out for larger salaries—all this is of great interest to the baseball fan.

However, local fans are anxiously awaiting the opening of the Independents' season, because with the done on foreign teams possible to read, there is nothing, which is quite so satisfying to the fan, as watching his home team in action.

Bernie Halloran, manager of the Independents, has been working quietly for several weeks in making arrangements to open the season about the third Sunday in April. Letters have been sent to various players and Halloran promises Lima one of the fast est nines in the history of the city.

More than that, fans will watch the games this summer in comfort. This is assured by the announcement Wednesday that the bleachers and grandstand and fences at Murphy-St park will be completely overhauled and repaired.

The high wind, the first part of the week blew over great sections of the fence and it will be necessary to rebuild these fences before the season opens. The roof of the grandstand is also in need of repair and this work will be started within a few days, Halloran says. The bleachers will be repaired at the same time, as it is the policy of the local baseball club to make Murphy-St park one of the best independent baseball plants in the state.

"We feel justified in starting extensive repairs at the park," Halloran asserted. "Because we feel that interest in baseball will be more intense than ever before. We expect larger crowds at our home games and we will be equipped to care for the patrons in fine shape."

These repairs are being undertaken, notwithstanding the fact that improvements at the park a year ago cost $2,400, of which $600 was still outstanding at the end of the season.

All repairs will be completed by April 9 and 10 when the Giant Yanigans and the Toledo Mud Hens will play a two-game exhibition series at the park. Appropriate ceremonies will mark the opening of the season and on April 9, the visiting ball players will be the guests of the Rotary club, at the "Fan Night" party, arranged for that date.

DEMPSEY LIKELY TO FIGHT FIRPO

LOS ANGELES — Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight boxing champion still awaited word from his manager, Jack Kearns in New York as to details of an offer he is said to have received to meet Luis Angel Firpo, Argentine boxer at Buenos Aires next November.

The Los Angeles Examiner today said Dempsey had been offered a purse of $75,000, plus $25,000 for training expenses and seventy-five per cent of the motion picture rights.

South American promoters are in New York to confer with Kearns according to information. Dempsey may be received from his manager.

"Of course, the match is not cinched yet," said Dempsey. "But my information is that it will be. I have been in communication with my manager daily and nightly and he seems to think it will only be a matter of a few days before closing the match."

The newspaper declares "the offer from Argentina is so tremendous and so reliable that the champion and his manager have no intention of refusing it."

It continued that Dempsey cannot wait to get everything that is promised him no matter what the outcome of the bout, because the Argentine government is backing the contest.

The newspaper declares "the offer from Argentina is so tremendous and so reliable that the champion and his manager have no intention of refusing it."

Dempsey said he did not care to discuss the size nor the source of the offer. He did say that it was big enough to demand consideration and that the source was very reliable.

Kearns was asked if it came from Tex Rickard or any of his agents and he replied that he did not care to answer.

The manager of the champion said also that they would go to South America if they received a satisfactory offer, as there seemed to be very few prospects for bouts in this country.

The enthusiasm that has been created in Buenos Aires over Firpo's success in the ring here has led all his countrymen to believe that all he needs to win the championship is to get in the ring.

U. S. INVESTORS INCREASE

Movement Started by Purchases of Liberty Bonds

STOCK BUYING LARGE NOW

Speculative Instinct Strong, Too, Forbes Says

(By B. C. FORBES)
NEW YORK—(Special)—Is America becoming a nation of investors? Or are we a nation of speculators?

The outward evidences would indicate that investment is developing more notably than speculation. First, of course, came into the army of some fifteen million subscribers for liberty bonds. This represented investment rather than speculation.

Public Utility Corporations have recruited some two million stockholders, more than half of them within the last few years. This, too, represents investment, not speculation.

The growth in the number of stockholders in industrial companies has also been very notable during recent years.

The number of buyers of bonds of railroad, industrial, and other enterprises has also increased.

And this has represented investment rather than speculation.

The distribution of first mortgages, in small pieces, has broadened enormously within the last few years. I talked the other day with an executive of one organization that is distributing, in Brooklyn alone, one million dollars of mortgages every week of the year in amounts averaging $2500.

This of course, represents investment.

* * *

Yet—well, just how safe is speculation?

* * *

Perhaps you may have noticed that stock market writers were telling us almost daily that "the public is not in the stock market at present," "the day's trading was almost entirely professional." "Lenders of pools are responsible for most of the markets activity."

* * *

Then stories interfered with telegraph communications between Western places and Wall street.

And what happened?

Read these two extracts from newspaper reports of Monday's stock market:

Had not the West been cut off from the stock market for practically two-thirds of the session, Wall street would undoubtedly have witnessed another buoyant stock market. The interruption to wire service resulted in a contraction in the total volume of business to the smallest for any full session in weeks. The West has been an important factor in the constructive side of this market and its absence greatly reduced the buying power heretofore under the general list."

The slowing up of business on account of the West wire trouble was accepted by many observers as irrefutable evidence of the extent to which public buying has affected the stock market during the past few weeks."

* * *

These two extracts would indicate, would they not, that the active buyers and sellers of stocks are not confined to the neighborhood of Wall street?

It wasn't this incident, however, which prompted the two questions asked at the beginning of this column. What prompted them is this:

I happen to be familiar with the operating of two bureaus that answer questions for "investors." The hundreds, the thousands of queries received come in astoundingly large numbers, not from New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, San Francisco, or other large cities, but from the most out-of-the-way, the most remote, the most unlikely places imaginable. And the percentage of the questions which pertain to highly speculative stocks is equally astounding.

* * *

These revelations have caused me to reach the conclusion that the speculative instinct is developed in America to a degree not known in Britain, or France, or Germany, or Holland, or Belgium, but known only in such young and undeveloped countries as South Africa, Australia and Latin-American countries in this hemisphere.

A lot of sentimental nonsense is written to the contrary, but the fact is that mighty few of the victims of get-rich-quick schemes seriously believe they are putting their savings into a safe, conservative, trustworthy investment. Most of them are prompted by the world-old desire to get, if not something for nothing at least a very great deal for a very little. Such individuals despite the modest interest rates paid by savings banks and the return obtained on government bonds. They itch to "take a chance," hoping always, of course, that the results will be almost as wonderful as the gain stock salesmen promise.

I am beginning to wonder whether the financial departments of newspapers and financial periodicals should not change their tactics somewhat, and instead of eternally urging small investors to buy nothing but the best of bonds, the choicest of stocks and attempt to help readers to discriminate between speculative stocks which offer a reasonable run for one's money and others which don't.

In other words, the "buy-nothing-but-the-best-bonds," preaching isn't what is wanted and isn't ringing the bell, whereas intelligent, commonsense advice along lines actually wanted would probably serve a really useful purpose.

This may be wrong.

Yet is it wise to ignore the indisputable fact that the speculative

Decline Brought About by Reports of Rain

CHICAGO—Reports that some dry sections of the winter wheat belt have been benefited by rain and snow and that a blizzard was raging in sections of western Kansas where it has been dry at many points since last July, tended to give wheat values a downward swing here today during the early dealings. Trading, however, was not large and prices held within narrow limits. Houses with eastern connections bought May at the start while those with southwestern connections were on the selling side of July. The opening which ranged from 1 1/2 to 1 1/2 lower with May 1 1/2 to 1 1/2 higher and July 1 1/2 to 1 1/2 lower was followed by a further drop a around.

Corn was in sympathy with wheat. After starting at the same yesterday's finish to 1 1/2 off with May 7 1/2 to 7 1/2 to 7 1/2, the corn market continued to ease off on all deliveries.

Oats started unchanged to 1 1/2 higher with May 14 1/2 to 44 1/2 and held near the initial figures. Provisions were steady in line with hog values.

TOLLODO—Wheat cash 135 to 136. Corn, 78 to 79. Oats, 15 1/2 to 16. Wheat, 2 1/2 to 3. Clover seed, prime cash and March 12 to 15. October 11 to 10. Alfalfa prime cash and March 10 to 11. Timothy, prime cash and March 10 to 12. May 3, 12 to 13.

SUGAR MARKET

NEW YORK—The raw sugar market was firm and unchanged early today at 5 5/8 for Cuban cost and freight, equal to 7.40 for centrales.

Raw sugar futures were firmer, 8 to 10 points net higher. Refined unchanged to 10 points lower fine granulated $90 to 930. Refined futures nominal.

WORK OF LEGION OFFICERS NAMED BY SCHOOL CLUB

State Adjutant Guest of Honor in Meeting Here

MEMBER DRIVE IS OPENEDSun Never Sets on Posts of American Legion

That the sun never sets on American Legion posts was one of the striking declarations made by Hugh K. Martin, state adjutant, in telling of the growth of the organization since its inception in Paris, March 13, 1912.

There are American Legion posts in every state in the union," declared the speaker, "in Alaska, Canada and Mexico, in South America, Australia, England, France and even in Germany. There are posts in Japan and China and American hunters seeking big game and adventure in the African jungle have met and formed posts."

Martin answered critics of the Legion who have accused the organization of neglecting the wounded and disabled.

He declared that the Legion has done everything in its power to aid. The Sweet bill passed in December 1919, was the first legislation ever enacted for aid of wounded and disabled veterans. The credit must go to the Legion, he declared.

WORKING FOR HARMONY

Working in accord with veterans in England, France and Italy, Martin declared the organization is doing more toward the promotion of international harmony than any league of nations, international court of association of nations ever devised.

Veterans of those countries, he said, have formed organizations which are similar in principle to the Legion.

Congressman John L. Cable praised the Legion in its stand for total exclusion of immigration until the 6,000,000 aliens in the country who can neither read nor write become citizens.

Column of Anecdotes About Home Folks
What is the funniest thing you ever heard or seen? Send it in and we will publish it in our column. The Lima News will print the name and address of the sender.

Norm Sherry, Little Britain, One Sunday my little brother and I went with mother to church. We were counting in day and night and were very glad which he took with us. When he came home he said to my mistake. One afternoon I experienced meeting this woman jumped up and shouted "Oh for a thousand tongues to sin!" The man immediately replied "My dear sister, if I had taken you make with one, I pity the neighbors all you're a brother and older brother. Oh you oughta been to church, they had hootch to drink and get it was good."

Vernon Parrott, Springfield, Ohio about a preacher who was conducting a revival meeting and in his congregation was a woman who was always quarreling with her neighbors. The minister was at a loss as to how to tell this woman off her.

Sarah Whittley, Buckland, relates that one day her sister, Edith, told her of a bird which she reported in a newspaper. On it was a picture of a stork taking a baby in its talons and her little brother, Jim, asked what a stork was. She explained that it was a bird that took babies to homes. When he arrived home, he went to the basement and closing the window said "There won't be any stork here in a baby house."

"The other day the telephone man came to fix our telephone wire. Kathleen Lutz, 109 S. McDowell St., The nose has two boys, Marti and Paul were there and one of the men asked Marti if Marti was the older and Paul said "No." Then he asked if he were the older and he replied "No." Well who's the older?" asked the man and Marti said "My big brother."

Harold Webber, Conest, Fourth Street, St. Johns, submits the following: "My father was conversing with a German one day about chickens. My father asked him if he knew what an egg was, and he replied "Yes, sir, I know what an egg is. It's a chicken not yet."
